Reminder - Billing for Kansas Telemedicine Act

Please refer to KMAP General Bulletin 18224 for specific requirements of Telemedicine services, as provisions of this bulletin remain in effect. As a reminder to providers, noted below are some key points to remember when billing for Telemedicine services:

- “Distant site” means a site in which a healthcare provider is located while providing healthcare services by means of telemedicine.
- Claims at the distant site must contain place of service code 02 (Telehealth distant site).
- “Originating site” means a site at which a patient is located at the time healthcare services are provided by means of telemedicine. Authorized originating sites do not currently include a person’s home.
- Providers at the originating site are required to submit claims using code Q3014 (Telehealth originating site facility fee).
- The provisions of HIPAA 1996 and 42 CFR 2.13 remain applicable to healthcare services provided through telemedicine.
- Providers must ensure the codes are covered by KMAP. Providers may only furnish telemedicine services that are safe, medically necessary, and within the provider’s specified scope of practice.
  - For a list of codes allowed via Telemedicine please consult the KMAP General Benefits Fee-for-Service Provider manual.
